Voices of a Republic

10:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m., 2:30 p.m., June 29-July 29, Tuesdays through Saturdays

Bank of America Theater

Voices of a Republic is an original play inspired by the theatrical ideas of 12th grade student Orlando Hidalgo, winner of the 2017 Founding Freedoms playwriting competition. The production transports visitors to 1787 Philadelphia, where a town crier reads the newly minted Constitution of the United States to a group of people in the cobblestone streets of Philadelphia who become intrigued to hear more about their new nation. Elizabeth Powell, a Mayor's wife and the friend of George Washington, has always been at the center of the city's political conversations, but this feels different. Learn about the early voices of the republic in this production. Voices of a Republic* will premiere at 10:30 a.m. on June 29 and will run Tuesdays through Saturdays at the times listed above through July 29, 2017.

Sponsored by the John Templeton Foundation.

2017 Annual Supreme Court Review

Feature Exhibits

American Spirits: The Rise and Fall of Prohibition

Through July 30, 2017

Created by the National Constitution Center, American Spirits: The Rise and Fall of Prohibition uses a mix of artifacts and engaging visitor activities to take you back in time to the dawn of the temperance movement, through the Roaring '20s, and to the unprecedented repeal of a constitutional amendment.

American Treasures: Documenting the Nation's Founding

Now open

American Treasures: Documenting the Nation's Founding illuminates the founding era through priceless drafts of the U.S. Constitution, including Pennsylvania delegate James Wilson's own handwritten drafts. The exhibit provides an intimate look at the path the Framers took to create our founding document. Created by the National Constitution Center in partnership with the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, this exhibit explores the momentous constitutional events in this early period of American history. It also includes a display of rare newspaper printings of the text of the Bill of Rights as it made its way through Congress, showcasing how James Madison secured the Constitution's first 10 amendments in 1791.

John Marshall: Patriot, Statesman, Chief Justice

Through December 31, 2017

John Marshall: Patriot, Statesman, Chief Justice highlights the character and constitutional legacy of the nation's fourth chief justice by focusing on his roles within the early Republic. Created by the National Constitution Center in partnership with The John Marshall Foundation, this exhibit explores Marshall's influential roles as a soldier, lawyer, statesman, and ultimately leader of the nation's highest court through rare artifacts, personal items, and historic documents.

Constituting Liberty: From the Declaration to the Bill of Rights

Through December 2017

The National Constitution Center is proud to display one of the 12 surviving copies of the Bill of Rights. The Museum of We the People is the first institution in Pennsylvania to exhibit this historic document to the general public. It has been preserved as part of The New York Public Library's renowned research collection for over 100 years. The Bill of Rights is displayed alongside a first edition Stone Engraving of the Declaration of Independence and a rare copy of the first public printing of the U.S. Constitution in the George H.W. Bush Gallery.
